CALL FOR PAPERS

Cfp: International Conference (Offline) on “Sustainable Development to Protect the Environment, the Climate and Human Living Conditions in the Light of the United Nation’s Sustainable Development Goals.” [29th Sep to 2nd Oct]: Submit Abstract by 20th April 2025.

About the Organisation

This international conference is a mark to the power of global collaboration, bringing together esteemed institutions from around the world - Université Paris Nanterre (France), Kerala Law Academy Law College (India), Europa Universität Viadrina (Germany), and Université Franco-Allemande (Germany). This collective effort aims to foster a rich exchange of perspectives and ideas from diverse geographical and cultural contexts, ultimately contributing to a deeper understanding of sustainable development and its far-reaching implications for our shared future.

About the Conference.

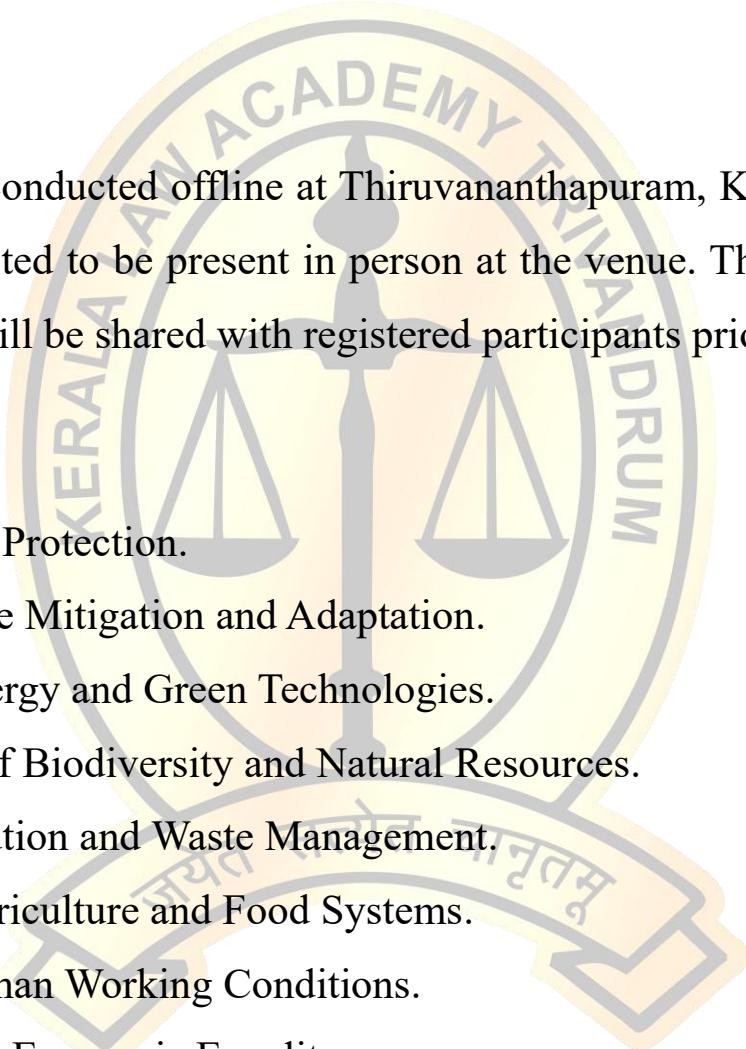

Sustainable development is intricately linked with law, as legal frameworks play a crucial role in promoting and ensuring the implementation of sustainable practices. The concept of sustainable development, which aims to balance economic, social, and environmental needs, is increasingly being embedded in international and national laws. Laws related to environmental protection, human rights, and economic development are being re-examined and reformed to align with sustainable development goals. Furthermore, legal instruments such as treaties, conventions, and regulations are being used to promote sustainable practices, hold individuals and organizations accountable for environmental degradation, and ensure that development is equitable and just. This international conference, held offline from 29th September to 2nd October, aims at fostering a global dialogue on sustainable development, exploring the intersections between law, policy, and practice, and identifying innovative solutions to pressing environmental and social challenges.
